The region is vibrant in its nature with multilingual, multicultural structure. The region has given birth to acclaimed academicians, literary personalities, religious leaders and philosophers. The region housed philosophical centers, educational centers, epistemological works, social movements, great dynasties, incredible folk traditions in verbal and non-verbal art forms and industries. One of the oldest human settlements in Asia is found at Isampur of Surpur taluka. Remains from the Stone Age are seen in and around the areas of Maski, Hire Benakal, and Balichakera etc.

The history of this region is rich in its contribution to literature. Many Vachanakaras, good number of Kirtanakaras and Tatvapadakaras hail from this region. There are great scholarly works Allama's vacanas work which made a tradition of epistemological works in the region. There are also many religious and philosophical centres like Sannati, Kanagana Halli, Koppala, Manyakbeta (Capital of rashtrakoota kingdom), Kalyana (Capital of Chalukya kingdom), Bidar, Savalagi, Tintini, Mudgal in the region.

It is important to note that A stone inscription discovered at Maski in Raichur district changed whole perception of understanding the history of India, for it being the first of its kind inscription found in the name of 'Devanampriya', Asoka the Great. This clearly established that the Maruyan kingdom had spread even to the far south to the Tungabhadra belt. Sannati was one of the most prominent and vibrant Buddhist centers as Archeological Survey of India excavations there have already established. Nagavi Ghatika in Chittapur taluk of Kalaburagi district was the most sought after centers of higher learning attracting students and scholars from different parts in the medieval period. It enjoyed the patronage of Vikramaditya-VI, one of the mightiest emperors of the world of his times. This ghatika, equivalent to today's university, had a well-established library managed by a qualified librarian, according to an inscription found here.

Maha Veeracharya (815-878), was one of the ancient mathematicians of India in the court of Rashtrakuta emperor Amoghavarsha at Malkhed near Kalaburagi. His marvelous mathematical treatise 'Ganitasara Sangraha', a mathematics book in Sanskrit poetry, is a landmark work found relevant even today, in several aspects of mathematics. 'Kavirajamruga', the first extant Kannada literary work was produced by Srivijaya around 850 AD during the period of Amoghavarsha alias Nrupatunga of the Rashtrakutas. The book is about the theory of literature particularly poetry, has played a vital role in according classical language status to Kannada. Vijnaneshwara, a celebrated jurisprudentialist, in the court of Vikramaditya-VI, the Kalyani Chalukyan emperor, wrote the magnum opus 'Mitakshara', commentary to the Yajnavalkya Smriti, in the 11th century. Hailing from Martur near Kalaburagi, Vijnaneshwara's Mitakshara became corner stone of the Indian legal system and it remained the sole system of justice throughout India except Bengal and Assam from 12th century till India attained independence. Malkhed on the banks of river Kagina near Kalaburagi is a holy place for Brahmins for its hosts the vrindavana of the eminent vedantic scholar of unparalleled caliber Sri Jayateertha (1365-88), famous by the epithet Tikacharya for enriching the Dvaita Vedanta philosophy as propounded by Sri Madhwacharya.

Khwaja Bande Navaj (1321-1422) was a Persian sufi saint settled in Gulbarga on the invitation of Bahman king Feroz Shah and was a pioneer in Urdu literature. His work 'Me Rajul Askini' considered to be the first prose work ever to be written in Urdu. Thanks to his Dargah, Gulbarga has become a major pilgrim centre for Muslims all over India and even abroad.

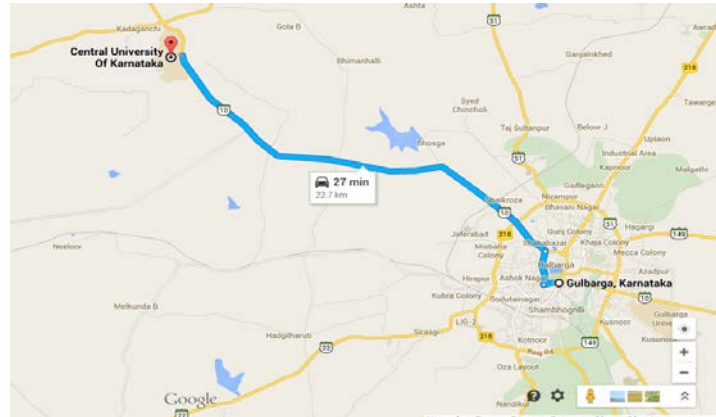

There are ample number of industries and businesses flourishing in the field of Gold, Electrical, cotton, cement, rice, Tore daal, stone etc. Dams like Krishna (Basavasagara) and Tungabhadra (Munirabad) and several minor dams have been constructed across many rivers like Krishna, Tungabhadra, Bhima etc which supply water within and outside the state. The region is a land of number of languages, tribes and cultures.

Kalaburagi district is one of the three districts that were transferred from Hyderabad State to Karnataka state at the time of re-organization of the state in 1956. The district is one among the 29 districts of Karnataka State. The District is a biggest district in the state covering 8.49% of the area and 5.9 percent of population of the state. Kadaganchi is a village in Aland taluk, Kalaburagi district in the Indian state of Karnataka. Kadaganchi is located 21 kilometres (13 miles) from Kalaburagi on SH10 highway with frequent services of KSRTC bus.

DEPARTMENT OF LINGUISTICS

The Department of Linguistics at the Central University of Karnataka aims to preserve the linguistic diversity of the country by educating the younger generation about serious issues concerning present situation of languages in India. India has the oldest and arguably, the richest tradition of linguistic study in the world. The rich multilingual situation of India provides both challenges and opportunities for a well-designed research and training program in Linguistics. The great history, mutual relationship between language families for thousands of years in India provides ample scope to research. The greater tradition of language studies of different languages in India too needs attention. Justification for a systematic study of language in India has not only intellectual, but also pragmatic one in terms of urgent regional, state, and national priorities. India faces many challenges in language education, both in mother tongue and second language teaching. Integration of the historically underprivileged and marginalized classes and castes into the educational mainstream is a national priority and language issues are a major stumbling block. Many minority and tribal languages await description, documentation and development. The use of India languages as medium of higher education remains an unfulfilled goal, especially, in the sciences. Developments in technology, such as the use of regional language in texting, emails, and the internet, call for precise descriptions of languages and adoption in natural language processing. India needs trained people in different applied fields to meet the present and future need of the society. The linguistics programme and courses are to make students aware of the issues and to train them to work in different areas related.

SCHOOL OF PHYSICAL SCIENCES

The School of Physical Sciences was started in 2012 with the Departments of Physics and Mathematics as its constituents. The primary goal of the School is to provide high quality education in various domains of Physics and Mathematics at the Graduate and Post-graduate levels. The academic programs of the School of Physical Sciences aim at creating an environment that promotes research and innovation. The School is equipped with high quality infrastructure in terms of well qualified faculty, well equipped laboratories, computational facilities, and high quality learning materials in various domains of Physics and Mathematics. This infrastructure would be utilized to create motivated young scientists and mathematicians capable of contributing to a “Knowledge Society.” Towards this end the School of Physical Sciences offers programs leading to M Sc and Ph D degrees.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS

The Department of Physics offers a 2 year (4 semesters) Masters degree program to prepare students for a career in teaching and research. Students will not be allotted any branch of specialization in Physics at the time of admission. The first two semesters will be devoted to the study of foundation courses in Physics. During Semester II and III the students will have the freedom to study subjects of his/her choice under the guidance of a faculty advisor. The fourth semester is set apart exclusively for a dissertation project. The entire curriculum is designed to prepare a student to enter into a research career in multi-disciplinary areas of science and technology in research organizations and industry. The program emphasizes on developing scientific and innovative spirit, instilling professional ethics, and a spirit of service to the society at large.

The most attractive feature of the M Sc program is the freedom given to the students to decide their domain specializations during the 2nd year of their studies. They would be guided to select from a basket of elective courses focused on a major domain of Physics. They would also have the opportunity to study cross-disciplinary subjects depending on their interest. Thus, the students would be well prepared to contribute to research in multi-disciplinary fields of contemporary interests. Another prominent feature of the M Sc program is the Dissertation project to be carried out in the 4th semester. The students will be allotted a project at the end of the 2nd semester and they would be required to explore the project topic by self-study during the 3rd semester. At the end of this study they would be required to submit a project proposal to carry out a project in the final semester. This study would be carried out under the supervision of a faculty advisor. The project can also be carried out in a prominent research organization in India. Thus, the project would provide the students with research experience that would enable them to continue further into the Ph D Program.

The India-based Neutrino Observatory (INO) with a budget of about 1000 crore has proposed to build a massive neutrino detector in Tamil Nadu. A large amount of scientific and technical manpower is required for the experiment to be setup and run successfully. The department plans to focus on building detectors and related instrumentation for INO.

Proton Therapy

It is the latest modality to treat cancers with superior dose conformality which leads to better quality of life in contrast to conventional radiation therapy. The department of physics at CUK will take up research tasks of high importance like range verification and in-vivo dosimetry in this field.

Surface and Interface Sciences and Physics of Soft Matter

The department aims to explore the physical properties at the nano scale, and comprehend it to realize advanced techniques and tools for the biomedical applications and life sciences. Current focus is on (a) interactions and self-assembly of biological molecules at biotic-abiotic interfaces, (b) scanning probe microscopy based techniques for Nano scale electrical characterization of surfaces in liquid media, and (c) ultrathin films of mesogens.

Nano-magnetism and spintronics

The magnetism of solids at lower dimensions, i.e. at nanoscale, is of prime interest technologically as well as from the point of view of basic physics. The understanding of nano-magnetism allows us to develop innovative memory technologies and devices working in different regimes. Presently, the department is focussing onto development of novel nano-materials, composites, and their thin films for device applications. Further, we are also into understanding of magneto-electric coupling at the interface of solids to develop novel spintronic device architectures.

ABOUT THE M.Sc PROGRAM

The Department of Mathematics offers a 4 semester (2 year) Master's degree program to prepare students for a career in teaching and research. The entire curriculum is designed to prepare a student to enter a research career in multi-disciplinary areas of science and technology in Research Organizations and Industry. The students could also take up a teaching career specially after acquiring a Ph.D. degree. Education at CUK is built with emphasis on developing scientific and innovative spirit, instilling professional ethics and spirit of service to the society at large.

THRUST AREAS OF RESEARCH:

Non-Newtonian Fluids: Most of the studies were confined to a Newtonian fluid, but in many of the real fluids like blood flow, molten polymers, slurries etc., the shear behaviour cannot be characterized by the Newtonian relationship. Hence, the researchers have proposed diverse non-Newtonian fluid theories to explain the deviation in the behaviour of real fluids compared with that of Newtonian fluids. Important field where these non-Newtonian fluids have applications includes squeezing and lubrication, bio-fluid mechanics, magneto-hydrodynamic (MHD) flows and synthesis and plasticity of chemical compounds. Presently, the department is focussing on thermodynamic second law analysis for non-Newtonian fluids like Jeffrey fluid, micropolar fluid etc.

Flow Visualization: An extensive flow visualization study is conducted that employs a novel heat and mass flow visualization technique based on the heatline and massline concept, in addition to the velocity vector, velocity contours, isotherms and concentration contours. The main use of heatlines and masslines is to find the flow intensity in the region which is not observed in other contours such as velocity, temperature and concentration. The heatlines and masslines are the adequate tools for visualization and analysis of the heat and mass transfer process, giving well defined corridors where energy and mass transfer occurs from the hot wall towards the cold wall. Further, we are interested to observe the flow visualization for nano-fluids.

21. THE UNIVERSITY OUTREACH ACTIVITIESINNOVATION CLUB

The Ministry of Human Resource and Development, Government of India has directed Central Universities to actively involve in the development of the nearby communities. As part of this, the Central University of Karnataka has launched “CUK Innovation Club” in its new campus at Kadaganchi, Aland Taluk, Kalaburagi. This is a unique initiative of the University to contribute to the nearby villages for sustainable development of the community. Faculties, staff and students of the University are part of this endeavour and will try to reach and contribute to the development of the community through various developmental activities. In response to this reality, the Innovation Club of Central University had taken up the project on training rural women to build fuel efficient smokeless stoves for themselves and in their neighbourhoods to create smoke free kitchens in nearby villages of the University. The club is planning to start various community outreach programs.

Dr. Priya Narayanan is the Coordinator of the Club.

LEAD REFERAL CENTRE

The University has established blood lead referral centre to create awareness about lead contamination in the human body. The Centre provides the facility to test blood lead level for north Karnataka region.

COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Community college, conceptually envisioned as alternative to the formal educational and instructional system, is an attempt to include the excluded; it tries to bridge the gap in skill development between the general and marginalised sections of the society, between developed and less developed regions and between the dropouts/10+2 pass and those formally qualified and certified. With such objectives, MHRD, Government of India ambitiously flagged off the project. The initiative by the Central University of Karnataka to establish a community college fits the requirements of the region in which the university is located; the region being, by several indicators, characterised as underdeveloped.

The keywords, as articulated by a nodal agency, are: ‘access and flexibility in curriculum and teaching methodology; cost effectiveness and equal opportunity in collaboration with industrial, commercial and service sectors of the local area; responding to the social needs and issues of the local community; internship and job placement within the local area; promotion of self-employment and small business development; declaration of competence and eligibility for employment’. Making a modest beginning after exploratory interactions and workshops, three institutes have been chosen to start three diploma level courses in Engineering.

Dr. Suhsma Hamilpurkar is the Nodal Officer.

NATIONAL SERVICE SCHEME

The National Service Scheme (NSS) provides diverse opportunities to the students in colleges and Universities to develop their personality through community services. Community services rendered by university level students have covered several aspects like adoption of villages for intensive development work, mass tree plantation, technology transfer programs, technologies for rural development, various technical training programmes for self-help groups and rural youth etc., considering the benefits, the Central University of Karnataka, Kalaburagi has made NSS compulsory for the students of CUK.

Dr. R M Channaveer is the Coordinator of the NSS.

DISTINGUISHED LECTURE SERIES

To widen the intellectual horizons of the faculty and the students, the University has initiated the CUK Distinguished Lecture Series. The basic motto of the series is to sensitize the students towards social concerns, bring public and academia on a common platform to establish dialogue and exchange. The committee identifies academic luminaries from various disciplines across the country and organizes lectures by them.

Dr Vikram Visaji is the coordinator of the Committee.
