2. Adjective of Quantity: It is an adjective which shows how much of a thing is meant. For example, There is little sense in it.

3. Adjective of Number: Also known as Numeral Adjective, it shows how many persons or things are meant, or in what order a person or a thing stands. For example,

The face of a clock has sixty divisions.

Numeral Adjectives are of three kinds:

(i) Definite Numeral Adjective: It denotes an exact number. It may be a cardinal denoting how many; as, one, two, three, etc. It may be an ordinal denoting the order, as first, second, third etc.

Rule: When a number together with a unit of measurement is to be used as an adjective, it is a compound word and the unit of measurement is taken in the singular.

Incorrect: It is a twenty-kilometres walk.

Correct: It is a twenty-kilometre walk.

Rule: Definite Numeral Adjective always takes plural countable noun.

Incorrect: When I was in Punjab, I had twenty money.

Correct: When I was in Mumbai, I had twenty rupees.

Rule: If in a sentence one noun is used for all ordinals and the first ordinal has 'the' while, other not, the noun will be in the plural.

Incorrect: I have read the literature of the seventeenth and eighteenth century.

Correct: I have read the literature of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

(ii) Indefinite Numeral Adjective: It does not denote an exact number. For example. There are many petitions lying on the tables.

Rule: Many takes plural noun while *Many a/an singular noun.

Incorrect: He has observed many an uncommon phenomena.

Correct: He has observed many an uncommon phenomenon.

Rule: The few is used before plural countable noun and the little before uncountable noun. Both follow a clause.
